REPORT ON

INTERNATIONAL MOTHER LANGUAGE DAY

Introduction

The EEE Association of the Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering organized an event on the occasion of International Mother Language Day to promote linguistic diversity and cultural awareness among students. The program aimed to highlight the importance of preserving languages and encouraging communication skills among engineering students.

The event was conducted on 21-02-2026 at MS-10 (CORE BLOCK) with active participation from students and faculty members of the EEE department.

Objective of the Program

The main objectives of celebrating International Language Day were:

- To create awareness about the importance of languages and cultural diversity.
- To encourage students to respect and preserve their mother languages.
- To enhance communication and presentation skills among students.
- To promote unity in diversity through language and culture.

Program Details

The program started with a welcome address by the EEE Association coordinator, who explained the significance of International Language Day and its role in promoting multilingualism in education.

Students enthusiastically participated in various activities such as:

- Speech presentations in different languages
- Poetry recitations in mother languages
- Short cultural presentations highlighting linguistic diversity
- Language quiz competitions

Participants presented speeches in languages such as Telugu, Hindi, and English, emphasizing the importance of protecting native languages in the era of globalization.

Faculty members encouraged students to actively participate and appreciate the richness of different languages and cultures.

Student Participation

52 students from the EEE department participated in the event and showcased their linguistic talents. The program provided an opportunity for students to confidently express their ideas and cultural values through their native languages.

Outcome of the Program

The event successfully created awareness among students about the importance of linguistic diversity and cultural heritage. Students learned the value of preserving their mother language while also respecting other languages.

The program also helped students improve their communication skills, confidence, and cultural understanding.

Conclusion

The International Language Day celebration organized by the EEE Association was conducted successfully with enthusiastic participation from students and faculty. The program highlighted the importance of preserving languages and promoting unity through diversity.

The department looks forward to organizing more such activities in the future to enhance students' cultural awareness and communication abilities.
